Online Group Courses

IEF Montpellier proposes group distance learning courses as if you were in one of our classrooms. Classes are given via video-conference by IEF Montpellier's professors.

You will integrate the course program of our school corresponding to the level assessed with our online placement test.

Depending on the results of your placement test, you will be placed in a group with a maximum of 8 students (5 to 6 on average) corresponding to your level.

You participate in group sessions with your professor by videoconference where you practice speaking and receive instructions for exercises to be done on the e-Learning platform.

You work on structural and grammatical points on the platform modules.

Your professor follows your progress live and answers all your questions in writing while you work online.

You have access to a private group on which your professor gives you homework and shares additional documents. You can chat with the students in your group and exchange with your professor.

The class ends with a videoconference session to prepare for the next class.

Online Private Courses

Our e-learning platform allows you to learn French or to deepen your knowledge, with the assistance of a professor, by working on different skills: exercises and lessons in grammar, vocabulary, conjugation, written production, written and oral comprehension and phonetics.

You take our online placement test, which consists of exercises to test conjugation, grammar, language structure and a written exercise where you are asked to introduce yourself and explain your motivations. At the end of this test, there is a needs sheet for you to tell us your expectations and needs.

Your professor will draw up a programme adapted to your profile. Your professor adapts, helps, advises and corrects you in a totally personalized way. You can send your professor any specific document you would like to work on. You partiicipate in face-to-face sessions with him or her in order to practice speaking via video-meeting.

Your professor gives you work to do on the e-Learning platform and it guides you in the choice of exercises and modules adapted to your needs and level.

IEF Montpellier's pedagogical team also offers you personalized coaching in French: you can ask questions to our team who will answer you and propose a correction to all your writings.

On our platform, you also have access to our groups which allow you to follow current events in French and to discover French and franco-phone cultures: reading tips, selection of radio and songs in French, links to games to work in French, cooking recipes, etc.

Professor in video-meeting

Standard formula

You work with your professor in private lessons according to your level and the objectives you have communicated.

This formula is particularly adapted if you have very specific objectives and you lack the time to come and follow a language immersion stay in France.

Hybrid formula

This Hybrid offer “Standard formula + immersion language stay” is a particularly powerful offer because a direct link is created between the distance learning sessions and the immersion session at the school if you decide to come to IEF Montpellier.

Pedagogical continuity is assured.
